Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations.
He will first divide to the nations their inheritance,
He separated the sons of Adam, he set the bounds of the People.
Deut. 32. 8.

London.

Pub. 1st June 1819 by Pinnock & Maunders, 267. Clement's Church Yard, Strand.

Engraved by Geof. Seele, Camden-Dorance, Renthin Town.

ADVERTISEMENT.

ALTHOUGH many attempts have been made to elucidate the Geography of the Old and New Testaments, and various works have been written on the subject, it is universally confessed, that no Complete Atlas has yet appeared. The difficulty of the undertaking, however, operated only as a stimulus to successful exertion; and, in designing the following plates, every author has been consulted, whose works could, in the slightest degree, tend to fix any disputable point; while conflicting opinions have been compared, and the Sacred Volume diligently examined, to discover the truth. If any proof were wanting to show that great labour had been bestowed in this production, the Author humbly submits, that the Index alone would afford it, in which the Latitude and Longitude of every place mentioned in Holy Writ are given, and references made to the passages in Scripture where the names of Places appear.

The execution of the Copper Plates, it is confidently trusted, will give satisfaction to the admirers of the graphic art; and, in the hope that the object he has had in view may have been attained, the Author most respectfully submits the result of his exertions to the judgment of a discerning Public.

* The grounds appropriated to the Levites, were close under the walls, or nearest to the buildings of the several towns, and consisted of two parts. First, a space of about 500 yards in length, immediately from the walls round the town, was appropriated to them, for houses, stables, and storage for their cattle of all kind; and from thence the space of something above 1000 yards of ground more for their pasturage.

NOTE

The extreme folly of Rehoboam conduct upon his ascending the throne of Israel, (B.C. 928) induced ten of the tribes to revolt immediately and they chose Jeroboam for their king. Two tribes only, namely, those of Judah and Benjamin, remained faithful to Rehoboam. These two kingdoms were formed, that under Jeroboam and his successors was called the kingdom of Israel; and that under Rehoboam and his successors was called the kingdom of Judah. The capital of the latter was Jerusalem which had been the seat of government since the eight year of David's reign. The capital of the former was at Shechem, then Tirzah and afterward Samaria the principal city of the tribe of Ephraim, whence this kingdom is also sometimes called the kingdom of Samaria, and sometimes the kingdom of Ephraim.

* Cities of Refuge were places divinely appointed in the law of Moses to be Asylum in provide for the security of those unhappy persons who without any design had been accessory to the death of their fellow creatures. These cities were six in number, three on either side the River Jordan. They all pertained to the priests or Levites. Every impediment was removed from the roads to these cities over every river was a bridge, every road was at least fifty-eight feet broad, and at every division of the road was a direction post on which was written REFUGE, REFUGE, for the guidance of him who was fleeing for security.
